Due to the severe storm that struck the area, Stratford Mayor John A. Harkins has activated the Emergency Operations Center and issued an advisory to residents of Lordship to remain indoors and shelter in place. United Illuminating will soon cut the power to the entire Lordship area, as this will expedite clearing of downed lines and assure the safety of the residents. As soon as the unsafe conditions have been addressed, power will be restored to most of the area. “ I want to assure all residents of the Town that we are using all available resources to restore conditions to normal as soon as possible”, said Mayor Harkins. “We thank you all in advance for your cooperation.”

For residents who need relief from the heat, the Baldwin Center on 1000 West Broad Street has opened as a “cooling center only” until 11 pm tonight. This is not a shelter and is not for those who need to relocate for medical reasons. Please bring your own food and refreshments if you need them.

If you need shelter for medical reasons, please contact your health care provider or go to the nearest hospital. As always, please call 911 if you have an emergency and need immediate assistance.
