Town Hall on Reduced Staff Thursday for Training Assessor's and Registrar's offices to be closed

STRATFORD – Offices in Town Hall will be on reduced staff, and the Assessor's and Registrar's offices will be closed on Thursday, June 28th, to accommodate customer service training for employees. Those who have business with town offices should take notice and plan accordingly.

“Our goal is to ensure the best possible service we can provide from town employees to our residents, and this training is an important part of achieving that goal,” said Mayor Laura Hoydick. “I expect that the training will provide new tools and techniques for addressing citizen concerns, and communicating more effectively between town departments. It will contribute to making all of our departments that deal with the public and other departments more efficient, responsive and friendly.”

The training is being administered by the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities at no charge to the town as it is serving as host to the training event, bringing public servants and municipal government employees from Stratford as well as around the state.
